

A. Two pages starting with "14. Tactical warning..." go at the end of the questions on the SIOP briefing.

B. Two pages headed: "Relations of Current Plans and Posture to Proposed Requirements" are corrected versions of the two pages heading the draft you already have.

Two pages starting, "f) No current option..." go at the end of the "Relations" paper.

C. Notes on, "Some Possibilities for Short-run Improvements in Current Posture/Planning" are to accompany the above "Relation" paper. Both of these are hastily-written drafts to provide background information and answer certain questions about the proposed draft central war section of the BNSP. The "Relation" paper is a quick answer to the question, "Why is it necessary to spell so much out in the BNSP; isn't this what we're doing already?" The "Possibilities" paper is a quick answer to the question: "Given that we're doing none of these things today, is it possible to make any changes before 1965; and is it necessary to buy the whole program, with embellishments, before any significant improvement in terms of national objectives is achieved?"

D. The most significant changes listed in "Some Possibilities..." concern plans and procedures. These cannot be changed tomorrow, or next week; but improvements could be achieved in months, not years.

Central cover (as given)

Stability: unlimited with much, accidents (omitted)

Amount of insurance

Prescribed mill. exp. (as provided)

Limit of loss

8th year

---

Reserves

Central by policy holders

Every mill; limit of damage & end year

Effect on every item

---

Range of contingencies; insurance

limits of possible loss (C.C. and probability most useful in these cases)

---